

“My Barents Region” – a photograph competition

What is your vision of the Barents Region? The question of the identity of the Barents Region has been tackled in many speeches and writings. Now photo competition “My Barents Region” encourages anyone interested in photography to capture your own image of the Barents into one picture. The competition is organized in order to find inspiring cover pictures for Barents Studies: Peoples, Economies and Politics - a new academic journal concentrating on the developments of the Barents Region. The first issue is to be published in the fall of 2013. The editorial board of the journal will choose the pictures with the most unique approaches to illustrating the Barents Region.

Instructions and rules for the photo competition

General

You can send only original pictures that you have taken yourself. The competition is open to anyone interested to participate.
